

Dose of Knowledge

A Pharmacists Teach Program

Texas HOSA has partnered with CVS in helping them launch Dose of Knowledge program. Please see below for more details

CVS Health has partnered with Discovery Education to launch Dose of Knowledge, a program that allows pharmacists and educators to collaborate in empowering students across the country to make healthy choices and prevent misuse of prescription and illicit drugs.

The Dose of Knowledge program consists of three distinct lessons which align to national curriculum learning standards (National Health Standards 7 & 8). Pharmacists can deliver these lessons independently in the virtual classroom or in collaboration with the educator. At the end of the lesson, students will have the opportunity to further engage with the pharmacist by asking questions. These lessons are also designed so that educators can deliver without a pharmacist, should they choose to do so. Currently, due to Covid-19, our pharmacists will only be able to deliver content virtually. These presentations are delivered at no-cost to the school or organization.
